MURDER AT RICHMOND.

Quarrel Among Drunken Men Ends in One of the Number Being Shot and Killed.

special to the Indianapelis Journal. RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 13 .- William Hunter was killed by Henry Haner, in the latter's saloon, this afternoon. Hunter was one of the best-known colored men in Richmond. Sober he was a good-natured man, but when drinking he was not only quarrelsome but a dangerous man. He always went armed, and when in liquor it was his frequent, boast to "get some one." He was employed as a letter-carrier under Postmaster Palmer and was arrested for rifling letters, but on trial was promptly acquitted of the charge. In the past three years he has been in numerous difficulties while drunk, and nearly killed a man at a colored ball by shooting him. For this he was fined; in fact, be has paid several fines for fighting. He is about thirty-five years old and leaves a widow and several children. Haner is a posa widow and several children. Hauer is a positive kind of a German, perhaps from stubbornness, but has a good reputation as a peaceable man. Hunter's trouble began with another negro, Oscar Parker, who was also drunk, and who has said he was going to vote for Cleveland, but the act that caused the killing was a brush between Hunter and Charley Chepp, the boss of the gang of natural-gas-pipe lavers. David Haner parted them, and Hunter Chepp, the boss of the gang of natural-gas-pipe layers. David Haner parted them, and Hunter accused David of holding him while Chepp attempted to beat him. In the wrangle Hunter's revolver was discharged, purposely or accidentally, and the ball went through Dave's clothing. He cried that he was shot, and his brother, Henry Haner, quickly shot at Hunter with a big horse-pistol, killing him almost instantly. Hunter was taken away from the Huntington House once during the morning and released. He was known to have a pistol, and was looking for a fight, and once or twice, when about to engage in a row, some of the police were standing by. None of some of the police were standing by. None of the gang did enough to be arrested, save Hunter, but they were all drunk and should have been Prosecutor Jackson says his investigation satisfies him that Hunter had no revolver, and the police say that they looked in vain for it at the time of the occurence.

Business Embarrassments. ASHLAND, Wis., Oct. 13 .- J. M. Lane & Co., lumbermen at Washburn, made an assignment yesterday to Thos. S. Clark, of Grand Rapids. Mich. Lane & Co. took one of the Rood & Maxwell mills and other property, a year ago, when that firm failed for $500, 000. The affairs of the company are unknown, and the assests and liabilities cannot be obtained. WALPOLE, Mass., Oct. 13.—The Norton, Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of ginghams cheviots and seersuckers, are reported financially embarrassed. The company is a Massachusetts corporation, incorporated Feb. 18, 1888, with an authorized capital of $60,000. The company did quite a business, having a large plant and employing seventy-five hands, but were hampered by a lack of working capital. There are nearly forty attachments against the company, aggregating about $20,000.

PITISBURG, Pa., Oct. 13.—The announcement of the failure of the Farmers' and Mechanics' Bank, of the South Side, to-day, caused very little excitement in financial circles. It was a small concern and the failure has no significance. One of the officials of the bank stated that there was something wrong with the books, but refused to say there had or had not been a defalcation. He intimated, however, that from present appearances things would be pretty hot in a few days. The bank was organized in 1869 with a capital stock of $130,000. The stockholders are individually liable. The general ledger shows deposits of $103,000, and the individual ledger $319,000, a difference of $216,000. The books have not been examined for ten years, and it is not known where the money has gone. It is supposed that the bank was hurt by the failure of the Fidelity Bank, of Cincinnati.

Brotherhood Men Indicted.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13 .- The Kane county grand jury, at Geneva, Ill., has found bills of indictment against John A. Bauereisen. Thomas Broderick, Alexander Smith, John A. Bowies, August Kaegel and George Godding. They are charged with conspiracy to injure the property of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railroad Company by the use of dynamite, at Aurora, during the late strike of locomotive engineers and firemen on that road. They are all members of the Brotherbood, and Bauereisen is chief engineer of division No. 23, Locomotive Engineers.

MR. BLAINE AT EVANSVILLE

He Devotes Twenty-Five Minutes to Review of Remarks Made by Mr. Mills, Holding Up in Clear Light the Pallacies of the Texas Free-Trader, and Making Plain Some of His Glaring Inconsistencies.

General Hovey and the Hon. John 28 Butler Also Address the Assembly.

Congressman Reed, of Maine, Makes Many Good Points for Protection Before a Fort Wayne Audience-Meetings Elsewhere, HON. JAMES G. BLAINE.

He Criticises Some Remarks Made in Evans ville by Hon. Roger Q. Mills. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

EVANSVILLE, Oct. 13.—This has truly been Blaine's day. Never in the history of southern Indiana has there been such a political demonstation as took place to-day and to-night. The strangers in the city have been various'y eath mated between 25,000 and 50,000, but the latter figure would be a closer estimate. The morning was clear and cool, but the weather bear came cloudy and windy in the afternoon. During the forenoon Mr. Blaine remained at Mr. Charles Viele's home, where he received many callers. They found him little changed from what he was when he was here four years ago. Then he was the candidate of his party, and now he has come to give his great sid to the party's candidate. The streets were crowded at an early hour this morne ing. Every train and boat entering brought in hosts of people, and by 11 o'clock, place, the principal streets of the city were crowded with moving humanity This parade was a monstrous affair, in which some 3,000 people participated. There were fife teen or twenty glee clubs and bands from neighe boring cities and towns. Republican clubs came from Indians, Kentucky and Illineis, some a distance of 200 miles or more. There was a club of Harrison veterans of 1840, was a club of Harrison veterans of 1840, while the most unique and attractive club was the Blaine Umbrella club, 200 strong each carrying a red, white and blue umbrella. Mr. Blaine reviewed the procession from Mr. Viele's residence, and was well pleased at the magnitude of the affair. In the afternoon 10,000 people assembled at Garvin's Grove, a beautiful spot adjacent to the city, where a monster meeting was held. Hop, John M. Butler, of Indianapelis, addressed the audience first. He dealt mainly with the tariff, partially taking the speech delivered here last. audience first. He dealt mainly with the tariff, partially taking the speech delivered here last night by Roger Q. Mills as his subject. Mr. Butler gave it considerable attention and dissected it to the utter discomfiture of Democrats present. Col, Snowden, of Philadelabia, who is traveling with Mr. Blaine, next addressed the audience. He is a man of deep thought, but deals with his subject in a humorous vein. He also devoted some attention to Mr. Mills's address, and discussed it from a Pennsylvania stand-point. He thought is ridiculous for a Texan to come up to Indiana to tell her people how to vote. At the couclusion of Col. Snowden's remarks, Mr. Blaine arrived at the stand, escorted by a band. His appearance set the multitude wild with enthusiasm. Hats and canes were thrown into the air, and in

Hats and canes were thrown into the air, and was fully five minutes before the chair voice could be heard. Mr. Danbe raid. "I have carefully read the speech delivered in the city last evening by Hon. Roger Q. Mills, chairman of the committee on ways and means, to whom the authorship of the Milis bill is popu larly imputed. It is altogether a very sin speech. It assails very bitterly the doctrine of protection, ridicules it, denounces it, and then in varied form of argument, tries to persuade his hearers that the Mills bill has not really changed the protective features of the tariff. It has, says, simply reduced the average of duties from 47; per cent. to 42; per cent., and he argued earnestly that this reduction will not disturb the harmony or efficiency of the protective system In Congress and on the stump, for years past Mr. Mills has devoted his energies and his eloquence to proving the free-trade dogma the protection is robbery. If he was speaking th truth in those days, he must now acknowledge that the Democrate are willing to rob to the ex tent of 42 per cent, while the wicked Reans are robbing to the extent of 47; per ce But the truth is, Mr. Mills does not state th figures correctly. On the contrary, he state them very incorrectly. I do not say he does thi with the intention to misrepresent, but, like a other free-traders, Mr. Mills is in such a muddle on the whole subject that he forgets the four primary rules of arithmetic in studying the actual facts and figures of the case. of the case. Fortunately, in a matter so pl sies or blunders of free-trade speakers. We simply appeal to the record. According to the report of the present Democratic Secrets the Treasury, the duties levied and collect on sugar, and from the duties levied on sugar a reduction was made of $11,000,000, leaving to people of the United States still to pay $47,000,000 annually on sugar. Deduct that $58,000,000,000,000,000,000,000 of sugar duties from $189,000,000, and you have left $131.000,000 as the total amount of duties levied on all other articles in the ta-and deduct that $11,000,000 which Mr. M and deduct that $11,000,000 which Mr. All took off the sugar duties, and you have left $38,500,000 reduction on the remaining $131,000,000 duties of the tariff. Gentlemen, you will please observe that the sum of $131,000,000 of duties affords all the protection we have on manufactures, except that levied on silks: all that we woolens, all that we have on iron and steel, an all the articles into which iron and steel or as a component part—in fine, all that promanufactures in the United States and prothe labor of those engaged therein. In last gentlemen, what may be termed the entire pro-tective system of the United States, over which this controversy between the two parties is no raging, is included in that $131,000,000 of duties and from that $131,000,000 of duties Mr. Mil proposes to take $38,500,000, and tells the peopl of Indiana that he is only reducing the tariff per cent., whereas, as a matter of fact, on whole importation of all the long lies articles I have named, he ma a reduction exceeding 24 per of What does Mr. Mills mean when he save the is only an average reduction of 5 per cent? he face the wool-growers of Indiana, from w
